Ratsputin

Avatar Name: Ratsputin Famous lover. Lots of squirrel rat babies all over the place. A extreme version of the idea that you want to make a good intimate connection with everyone. Lots of interplay between the Australian Chirido people. He's a folk legend/hero with an insane amount of Charisma. He's known in the area surrounding the land bridge and starts going out into the wider world to meet with other people. Intermixes with the Fleurs and there is some crossover between him and those of that civilization.

Jean de Bark? Like Beavers? and Wood? Bark?

Avatar Name: Joan of Arc: Ratatouille World famous chef. She starts in Japan. She's a beaver. She has a restaurant that starts the foundation of the restaurant business that helps attract people via tourism to places like it. She disguises herself as a man. Fake mustache. (The group of Chidori on the Japanese side have Canadian accents) Deed: Success of the restaurant business has created a demand for delivery of food across long distances. A railway system expands from Australia to the university. Battle Maidens.
